Overview

Discovery Bay is a self-contained residential resort development on the scenic northeast coast of Lantau Island, the largest outlying island in Hong Kong. Perfectly framed by mountains and surrounded by the beautiful South China Sea, the development covers a total area of 649 hectares (7 million square meters). It is carefully preserved for recreation, open space, and resort living purposes. It comprises low-density housing of European-style garden house, low-rise and high-rise properties.
